All that you do, do with all your might- Things done by half are ever quite right.

Years may wrinkle the skin, but lack of enthusiasm wrinkles the soul.

Time is not an enemy unless you try to kill it.

He who sows courtesy reaps friendship, and he who plants kindness gathers love.

The difficulties of life are intended to make us better, not bitter.

EDITORIAL

It gives us immense pleasure to bring out our school magazine again after a lapse of time. We are always hopeful of our students' creativity that has been hidden lie within them. They must be encouraged to expose such talents that lie dormant in them. Therefore we have regenerated the magazine, 'A to Z.

When God distributes different parts to His children, He also gives them the capacity necessary for the successful performance of those parts. Those parts may be of a poet, of a diplomat, of a philosopher, of a scientist, of a robber or of a thief. When s/he enters the world, these tastes and capacities help him/her to act the part assigned to him/her by Unseen Power.

In this way, premonitions or the sign of early stage have failed and turned into glorious triumph or shameful failure. Gandhi, Einstein, Shakespeare, Stevenson, Goldsmith, Asoka and Balmiki etc did not show any promising sign or indication in their early stage of life. For that reason, neither the parents nor the school should give up their optimism. Both the parents and the school forget or disregard this fact and as a result, there is always an unnecessary tussle between them.

Therefore, it needs not to be reiterated that the periods of childhood should be carefully watched, for it is the children of today who will be the future custodians of the nation tomorrow. Opportunity must be given to every child to develop noble qualities of head and heart to the way best suited to him/her. If this is done every child may grow up into a noble and useful citizens dedicated to his/her nation's welfare.

Somebody has rightly said, "Give me the child for the first five years and then you may keep him for the rest of your life." Therefore, the period of childhood should be carefully watched.

PRIMARY

COMPREHANSIVE POWER

A Jackal named Loud One

There is a jackal called Loud One. He lives in a forest. At night, he is feeling very hungry. Therefore, he goes to a town to look for food.

A pack of dogs sees Loud One. “Who is this thief in our town?” they say. They chase him and bite him. Loud One runs for his life. He hides in the workshop of a carpenter. It is dark in the shed so he falls into a tub of blue paint.

LOWER SECONDARY

ALI BABA AND ROBBERS

Ali Baba was a poor man. One day when he was cutting wood in the jungle, he found a cave in the rocks. It was closed by a strong door. He tried to open it. While he was doing this, a gang of robbers came up. Ali Baba hid himself behind some bushes and watched. When the robber-chief came to the door, he said, “Open Sesame!” The door opened. The robbers went inside. Presently, they came out again and the leader said, “Shut Sesame!” And the door closed. When the robbers were gone, Ali Baba came out of the hiding place and went to the door and uttered the same magic words the robber-chief had used. The door opened. Ali Baba went in and found the cave full of gold, diamonds and jewels. Ali Baba filled the sack with all those things, loaded on his donkey and went home. He was now a rich man.

SECONDARY

GORILLAS

Gorillas look very dangerous. But they can be quite friendly. A few years ago an Englishman, R.L. Garner, went to West Africa to learn all about gorillas. He made a cage in the middle of the jungle. Then he sat down in it and waited for the gorillas to come. But when they came, they didn't try to attack him. They just ate leaves and plants. Father gorillas like playing with their young ones. They even let the little ones pull their hair. The young gorillas climb trees, jump on their parents' backs, and then glide down. But if they do something wrong, their mother gives them an angry look. This is enough to make them stop doing the wrong things. She doesn't have to hit them. Many people think that gorillas are not very intelligent. If somebody wants to train them for the circus, he will find it very difficult because gorillas are clever. They only do what they want to do. They will be friendly if you are friendly to them, but you cannot make them do anything they do not want to do.

When God distributes different parts to His children, He also gives

ADEETI, MY BEST FRIEND

-Deepti Baral

Adeeti Shrestha is my best friend for many reasons. She is my good friend and cares for me a lot. She behaves me well and helps in need always.. She is my true friend because she understands me very well and cares for my every need. I like her very much. I never had any friend like her. She comes to my home and I too go to her home. Our parents respect us very much and like our friendship. She is so precious for me that I never want to lose her. Whenever I am absent in the Graderoom, she helps me in doing all the home works and Grade works I miss that day.

She is much similar to me in many aspects. She never argues with me and describes me well anything which I get stuck. She is very entertaining in nature and makes me laugh through her interesting jokes and talks in the spare time. She promotes me always to do better in the Graderoom and exams. We are good at sports and academic activities. She takes my opinions in her every tough work to do in the right way. The only weakness she has is; she cannot say 'No' to anyone. We manage to share things in our difficult times. We always perform better in the Grade tests and main exams. She is cool, calm and self controlled. In short, Adeeti is my role model even though We are of the same age.

BIOGRAPHY OF PRITHIVI NARAYAN SHAH

Anish khatri
Grade: 9

Prithvi Narayan Shah was born as a prince in Gorkha, Nepal. Chandra Pravawati (the first wife of King Nara Bhupal Shah) raised him, although his biological mother was Kaushalyavati Devi. From a young age, he took interest in the affairs of his father's state and soon began to take on these responsibilities. Prithivi Narayan Shah had an early dream of conquering Nuwakot, Nepal, partially as his father had lost it in an earlier war. After the death of his father in 1743, Prithivi Narayan Shah ascended to the throne of Gorkha at the age of 20. As a king, Prithvi Narayan Shah valued his people and enjoyed talking to his subjects about their general concerns. This practice helped him to build a rapport with his people, and helped him to understand the requirements of the citizens of Gorkha. Prithvi Narayan Shah sealed his borders and had maintained a peaceful environment except for distant relations with the British, who were refusing to trade with Nepal at that time. Prithvi Naraya was succeeded by his son, Pratap Singh

King Prithvi Narayan Shah's reign began with an immediate military defeat; his invasion of Nuwakot in 1743 BS failed. Conquering Nuwakot was essential for the unification, as it lies between Kathmandu and the Gorkha District, which made it a vital trading route to Tibet. He successfully conquered Nuwakot in a subsequent attack in 1744 BS. After capturing Nuwakot, he took possession of strategic locations in the hills surrounding the Kathmandu Valley. The valley was completely cut off from the outside world and was controlled solely by Prithvi Narayan Shah. Prithvi Narayan Shah also occupied the Kuti Pass in 1756 BS, stopping the trade through the pass and communication with Tibet. After two humiliating defeats in Kirtipur, King Prithvi Narayan Shah conquered the ancient city on his third attempt. Consequently, Jaya Prakash Malla of Kathmandu fled with his wife and took asylum in Patan, Lalitpur.

Finally, King Prithvi Narayan Shah began to unify his conquered lands. Weeks later, when his conquest was extended to Patan, both Jaya Prakash Malla and the King of Patan, Tej Narsingh Malla, fled again, taking refuge in Bhaktapur. Bhaktapur was also conquered by Prithvi Narayan Shah after some time.

In addition to the unification of Nepal, King Prithvi Narayan Shah laid out his ideas for the guiding principles of governance, nationalism and foreign policy in his Divya Upadesh. In the Divya Upadesh, he laid out nine principles, many, of which are unknown or obscure. Four of the nine are listed here:

1. "Nepal is a small yam between two stones." This indicates Nepal's location between the large powers of China and India.
2. "Both the people, who take and who give bribe, are enemies of the nation. There will be no sin in executing them."
3. "Nepal is a garden of four castes (consisting of Kshatriya, Brahman, Vaishya and Shudras) and thirty-six sub-castes."
4. "Even if there is settlement in places with mines/quarries, relocate the settlement and operate the mine."

King Prithvi Naraya Shah was ultimately able to unify these previously small principalities into one nation, Nepal. This unification was crucial as the British colonial forces had already begun colonizing the small kingdoms that form present-day India. King Prithvi Narayan Shah was convinced that the British forces would eventually approach Nepal. He believed that 50 small principalities would easily be conquered by the British as part of a plan to colonize Nepal. Unifying Nepal, made it more difficult for British forces to make their move. His unification campaign was very ambitious, especially as he was the King of a (relatively) small kingdom surrounded by strong and powerful neighbours. King

Prithvi Narayan Shah was able to successfully unify Nepal, which later enabled unified Nepali forces to fight against British colonial forces and prevent foreign colonization of Nepal.

Prithvi Narayan Shah died in the gigantic Nuwakot palace, sadly before he could effectively organize the administration of his new country. He died in January 1775, at the age of 52. Upon his death his son, Pratap Singh Shah, succeeded him and his unification campaign was continued by his younger son, Bahadur Shah. Much of Prithvi Narayan Shah's work is visible in modern-day Nepal.

Prakriti Ahikari
Grade : 7

That voice really amazes me
Puzzles me and troubles me
From which I am totally puzzled and don't know
How to solve it?
I only think about it in the morning, afternoon, evening, and midnight.
Through whole day and night,
It's on my mind.
By being a big question mark '?' for me.
The voice
Voice of someone
Which is melodious, awesome, and sweet
This has broken my heart.
Into many pieces. And made me complete sick and trouble hearted.
That voice which really amazes me.
